Thank you and congratulations to the art students for a lovely new installation in the Fishbowl. Thanks to Rudi Viljoen for hanging the artwork. The installation comprises of giant puzzle pieces of which each of the art students created a piece to complete the artwork, titled Bookshelf. Did you know?

The Ladybird Auditorium was originally The Sir John Brand Lodge, build by the Masonic Society in 1903. Sir John Brand was the President of the Free State, in the South African dispensation between 1863 to 1882. The town of Ladybrand, was named after his wife, Lady Johanna Sibella Brand (née Zastron), a daughter of the Registrar of Deeds in Cape Town. Sir Johannes Henricus Brand (popularly known as Jan Brand and sometimes as John Henry Brand or Jan Hendrick Brand), was a South African lawyer, politician and an also active member of the Masonic Society in the Free State.

The Masonic Society sold the property to the Ladybird International Arts Academy in 2007, for the purposes of enriching children's lives and enriching the community through the arts. An extract from the proposal to purchase, was as follows:

'Herewith a proposal to purchase the Ladybrand Sir Brand Lodge for the purpose of restoring and the utilizing the building as a chamber concert hall and arts space, to serve audiences with diverse programmes of music and other arts productions. The aspiration will be to create a neutral space – meaning not to be associated with any specific church denomination, political party or formal school – where all patrons will feel welcome and belong.'

The building was restored within the margins of its historic style period – retaining authenticity and architectural style as prescribed by the South African Historic Building Foundation.

Ladybird Public Speaking Certificate Overview

Why Public Speaking?

Public speaking can be a powerful tool. It can be put to use for purposes such as motivation, influence, persuasion, informing or simply entertaining. For some people speaking in public can be downright terrifying. A course can assist in developing the confidence, poise and skill to present you in a capable manner in front of an audience as well as help in preparing presentations. Like any other skill, it requires patience, practice and dedication. Public speaking is an invaluable skill that will serve you well, not only now but in your future. It also prepares learners for future leadership roles. This is a great opportunity if you are looking to improve skills in your current job or want to move up in your career.

The Ladybird International Arts Academy is now offering a basic course that will be covering the following aspects of Public Speaking

- Preparing to Speak, including voice training, overcoming fear of public speaking. Researching Your Subject 0
- O.
- O.
- Organizing Your Speech Preparing Supporting Materials 0
- Using Language Effectively a
- Presenting Your Speech Ċ,

A Ladybird client, who is the principal of a school in Ladybrand, did this course, says, "My experience has been that there is a major difference in how you pronounce words when you have in normal conversation, in comparison to when you speak to the public from stage – especially when using a microphone. If the placement of your tongue is incorrect, the microphone can be merciless. The tongue is also a muscle, and needs to be fit to move well in effective public speaking." She concludes, "The course was of incalculable value to me. It made me more attentive to using English, especially the correct emphasis of syllables in words, and diction is very important. The art of public speaking and speech techniques were simply effectively explained to me,"

This basic course will comprise 36 one-hour sessions. The certificate course can be done over a year or less, to the choice of the student. This course will culminate in a Public Speaking certificate, accredited by the Ladybird International Arts Academy,
